Human Beings Burned.

Eleven Lives Lost by a Fire in Boston.

THREE MORE FATALLY INJURED.

While Six Others, after being injured by jump ing from the windows of the burning building—Another Big Fire in Boston.

Other Five Cases.

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Shortly after mid night Saturday morning the dwelling house, No. 220-221 North street, occu pied by Marie Lintley's clothing store, on the first floor and by lodgers, chiefly

Italian families, on the three upper floors, was gutted by a fire which is sup posed to have originated in the store.

The flames speedily cut off escape by the stairway, and the inmates of the build ing had no means of saving their lives except by jumping from windows.

Eleven persons were burned to death, three were fatally injured and six were seriously if not fatally injured.

Before the fire was discovered it had reached the staircase and was feeding upon the dry wooden stairs and rapidly spreading toward the roof. The sleeping lodgers were aroused in confusion and some were awakened and at once encumbered to the deadly smoke; others attempted to flee down the burning stairway and fell victims to the flames, while still others leaped from the win dows to meet their doom or mutilation from contact with the pavement.

When the firemen arrived they quickly extinguished the fire and rescued

those of the inmates who had managed by hanging out of windows or taking refuge on the roof to escape the deadly flames.

The shrieks and prayers of the terrified people were mingled with the cries and groans of the injured, and the scene was a terrible one. In a few moments, how ever, the hospital people had been taken down the stairs and the injured moved to hospitals and the dead to the station house. It was then found that all of the bodies were found huddled together on the top floor, they having been unable to get down when the fire

first discovered the fire, the flames hav ing cut off escape by the stairway to the breakers and being burned to death.

It is suspected that the fire was started for the insurance on the store. A man named Benjamin Simons has been ar rested on suspicion.

There is another story of the origin of the fire. It is said that a lighted cigar row over cards on a table threw a lighted cigar at another, and thus started the fire.

The following is believed to be the correct list of the dead:

Maria Lintley, 31 years, a widow,

Modena Cirio, 31 years, who lived with her husband, Giovanni.

Philomena Cirio, 30 years, wife of Giovanni Cirio, 31 years, son of Phi lomena Cirio, 31 years, daughter of Philomena Cirio.

Martina Marchione, 25 years, a se nior's wife.

Rosa Marchione, 25 years, wife of the last named.

Raffaello Verrillo, 42 years, a laborer.

Enrico Marchione, 7 years, daughter of Martina Marchione.

The names of those injured and now in the general hospital are: Annie Gil bert, 41 years, a widow; Pietro Cirio,

28 years; Pietro Lombardelli, 28 years; and Lodovico Molino, 35 years.

ANOTHER BIG FIRE IN BOSTON.

A Large Five-Story Marble Structure

Entirely Destroyed.

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—A large five-story marble structure, the Sears build ing, corner of Court and Washington streets, was found to be burning, and three hundred men at once commenced to fight the fire. The fire was burning in a short time the upper stories were a mass of flames, and the destruction of the building was a matter of time.

The fire was burning in the west end of the building, and the flames were confined to the Sears building.

At 11 o'clock the fire was completely under control with nothing left of the building. The fire was burning in the west end of the building, and the flames were confined to the Sears

Election First Monday in August, 1920.

A letter from Mobile to THE CLIMAX, announcing that strawberries, lettuce, peas, beets and radishes, product of the gardens in that locality.

A Republican called the Buckner meeting at the Court House, Monday. That of itself was a great compliment to the grand old Governor.

The Republican Lieutenant Governor of Ohio has gone to the bottom along with that other unfortunate fellow, about whom you hear so much.

The boom has at last struck Barbourville, and two new brick churches, a $25,000 hotel, a furniture factory, and a hardware factory are the result. Real estate has advanced $5 per front foot.

A headless young man, from parts unknown, and to parts equally as obscure, arrived at about 10 o'clock, Monday, and worked the young banks for a good many thousand dollars.

A letter to THE CLIMAX from Hayre de Grace says that the large ice houses at the mouth of the Susquehanna have failed to harvest even a small crop of ice, and have gone to Maine for a supply.

The President has appointed a Northern man to the Korean mission, and Col. Faulkner, like all other Kentucky Republicans, is left out. The President can not see why he should give to Kentuckians offices outside of the State, when it is hopelessly Democratic.

It is evident that the Republican in Congress mean to unseat the several Democrats who are contested, before the House Rules are reported and adopted. The scenes the past week in the House have been wildly exciting, and the Speaker has ruled with an iron hand. But then he is a Republican, and can't help it.

DEATH IN FLAMES

An awful calamity befell Secretary Tracy and family in Washington City early Monday morning. The house took fire and was burned to the ground. Mrs. Tracy jumped from a window and was killed, and the youngest daughter and her French maid were lost in the flames. The Secretary was rescued in an insensible condition, being near to death by suffocation.

A NEW JOURNAL.

"Southern Progress" is the name of a new journal published in Louisville, for the purpose of advancing the progress of the South. It is modeled after the powerful Baltimore Manufacturer's Record, an excellent model, and faithfully followed. The editor is Mr. Wm. H. J. Shade, who is well known to our readers as having been a regular correspondent in the way of roads, factories, mills, light, water, ice or similar companies, or any other undertaking looking to the advancement of the country.

GOVERNOR BUCKNER INDORSED.

A public meeting irrespective of politics was held at the Court House on Monday. Judge John D. Goodloe presided. A committee of two from each precinct in the county formed the committee on resolutions. Governor Buckner's views, as set forth in his message, were endorsed, and especially that part relating to railroads and circuit judges. We can scarcely see any need of a public meeting to endorse the Governor when all the Democrats and a majority of the Republicans in the State think he is a model Governor.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Representative W. B. Smith and Senator Phil Roberts were at home over Sunday. Each has introduced several general bills and a number of local ones. The Senator has introduced a bill to make the pay of members $12 per day. Mr. Smith's citizens are not at all equal to the property rights of married people was amended beyond recognition.

It occurs to us that the two branches of the Legislature are doing an unusual amount of killing off of each other's productions. When a measure comes up in one branch, it straightway goes in the other, and it is not through "at all, most hardly," unless it is a "good deal" amended.

STILL EFFERVESCING.

Mr. Brutus J. Clay was in Nicholasville, recently, and made some statements in regard to the R. N. 1. & B. Railroad, which were, he says, incorrectly reported to the Journal of that place. In writing to the Journal to make the needed corrections, Mr. Clay uses this language:

"I did not say that the newspapers along the line of the R. N. 1. & B. Railroad had been bought up by that corporation, but that the papers in my county (Madison) only published such items as were favorable to the interests of the railroad, unless paid to do otherwise, and that one them, THE CLIMAX, had added to an advertisement which I had agreed to pay them for publishing, thereby destroying the purpose for which I had written."

Speaking for THE CLIMAX, we have to say that it is not true that it publishes only such items as are favorable to the railroad, "unless paid to do otherwise."

It is not true that THE CLIMAX "added to an advertisement" published by Mr. Clay.

But these statements by Mr. Clay are in strict accord with the silly notions that have daily emanated from him since he failed to secure the railroad to Waco, where he wanted it, but got it across a corner of his farm near Richmond, where he didn't want it.

Mr. Clay used his efforts to have the road located through Waco, and filling in that, contracted as President of the Waco and Richmond Company to have it run within two miles of that place. He used his energies to secure the right of way. He signed a paper agreeing to give $100 to locate the road on a certain line through Richmond, and over the property of people who did not want the road.

Mr. Clay stood cheek by jowl with the railroad company and the construction company until it was decided to run the road through his farm, and then there came a sudden and violent change. He said his case should not be tried in this county and filed a petition stating that he could not get a fair and impartial jury in Madison county, asking a change of venue to some other county. This request, he announced, that no man would live long enough to see a pick or spade stuck by the railroad in his lands, and straightway filed a petition for an injunction. But work was begun, and he announced that every man that set foot on his place should be arrested for trespass, but they have not been "pulled" as yet. Then he said that every rock blown by the blasts beyond the "supposed" right of way would be a lawsuit; but those suits have been brought at this writing. When a night force was put on, he signified his intention of getting out an injunction; but it was not forthcoming. He applied to the Circuit Clerk for a supersedeas, and upon the Clerk's decision that he had no right to issue same, threatened to sue him; but he did not. He talked of suing THE CLIMAX for some imaginary injury; but neglected to do so. He announced that the construction company was insolvent, and at the same time the company was paying $5,000 under his nose, besides paying all demands whatsoever brought against them.

He discovered that the papers in Richmond were not for the people, and said he would start a people's paper, but we haven't seen it. He grumbled when a damage suit was brought against him in Louisville, notwithstanding his affidavit that he could not get justice in Madison county. He used slanderous language concerning several of his fellow citizens, with whom he had recently been associated.

We might extend this list to greater length, but certainly enough has been said to demonstrate that Mr. Clay is simply stopping over on all sides, at all times, and that his remarks concerning THE CLIMAX are not at all alarming to us, and should not be given any weighty consideration by our readers.

The only thing that troubles us is to decide whether Mr. Clay is endeavoring to pose as a martyr or a bulldozer.

THE FIRST LEGISLATIVE CORRESPONDENT.

Col. H. M. McCarty, editor of the Nicholasville Journal says: "In 1848, I was sent up to Frankfort as legislative correspondent of the Louisville Courier. Such a thing as having a regular correspondent was unheard of. George D. Prentiss used to go up there during the session, stay a few days, and send two or three letters to the Journal, but that was all. When the Courier sent me there for the entire session it was a great stroke of journalistic enterprise for that time."

If you will look back through the house journals of 1848, you will see recorded that a certain member offered a resolution that the correspondent of the Louisville Courier be granted desk room near the clerk. What that resolution was offered, a member sprang from his seat and made a vigorous speech against it. He said that there were at least fifty papers in the State and if the House passed a resolution granting desk room to the correspondent of the Courier, each one of those papers would want a desk for its correspondent. If they were given their desks, where would the members sit? Well, they debated the question for two days, but the resolution lay in favor was finally passed."

How things have changed. The daily paper that cannot afford a legislative correspondent, is not up with the times. Col. McCarty is yet young and vigorous, and would make a first-class correspondent in this fast age.

HOW THE PROTECTIVE TARIFF WORKS.

While the tariff revisers are at work in Washington the continued investment of English capital in our protected industries make queer results. A computation just made states that about $150,000,000 of foreign capital is now getting the benefit of the tariff for protecting our infant industries. The absolute control of the potteries is the most startling incident of this situation of affairs, where the profit accrued by the protective tax will go directly from American pockets into European hands.

The Week in Congress.

Program of Both Branches of the National Legislature.

NOTHING STARTLING EXPECTED.

The Senate Will Discuss the Blair Educational Bill and Will Probably Pass It.

The exciting scenes in the House over the contested election cases will be repeated in that body.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The Senate has set aside to-day for the consideration of the Blair educational bill. It comes up as the unfinished business of the Senate, and it will continue to come up at 2 o'clock each day until it is disposed of. Its passage is a foregone conclusion, but it may be debated at some length, and its consideration may take up two or three afternoons.

A decision is expected from the Supreme Court of the United States in the suit involving the validity of the Idaho test oath. In event this decision is rendered the committee on territories may dispose of the bill for the admission of Idaho at its next meeting. Senator Platt, chairman of the committee, has, however, more urgent matters to bring before the Senate. The secretary of the Interior in an interview with him Friday, laid before him the necessity of pushing to a passage the bill already reported from the committee providing temporary government for Oklahoma. Senator Platt will ask the Senate to consider this measure at an early day.

The customs administration bill known as the McKinley bill will be reported to the Finance Committee Tuesday by the sub-committee, Aldrich, Allison and McPherson and will doubtless be reported to the Senate the same day. A number of amendments will be suggested, and when the Senate passes the measure it will be thrown into conference, where it will stay for some days.

The discussion of Senator Butler's bill to assist the emigrant may be resumed in some form or other. The Senator from South Carolina himself may make a brief speech explaining the character of the measure, further as he believes it has been seriously misunderstood by some of the speakers who have discussed it in the Senate.

In the secret session the nominations of Indian Commissioner Logan and the superintendent of Indian schools, Dr. Dorchester, are still awaiting consideration. It is believed that much of the delay in consideration in these cases is due to the fact that if they were brought up at once, they would be acted upon adversely. So they may not be considered during the present week.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The exciting scenes that characterized the proceedings of the House yesterday will be repeated to-day and will last until the Republican members of the committee on territories have acted upon the measure. It is the purpose of the majority members of the committee to report the measure as soon as the Smith-Jackson case is disposed of. The committee has heard the evidence in the case, but has had no meeting to decide on its disposal.

According to the agreement entered into by the members of the committee, this case would come up before the committee on Tuesday, Feb. 10, but the majority of the committee have decided to call a meeting and take a vote on the matter, so that the case can be reported to the House immediately after the Smith-Jackson case is gotten out of the way. With the addition of Mr. Smith to the Republican ranks, the majority would be quite certain of always having a quorum on hand to dispose of the other cases. A vote on the Smith-Jackson case will be taken to-day if the majority of the committee are so inclined. Mr. Jackson will be unsatisfied, and then the Adkins-Pelletier case will be called up. The Democrats intend to continue the fight to the day and they will use every strategy to delay action.

Little is known concerning other legislation that may come before the House, as it is the custom of the majority to enact any legislation for the present.

THE FIGHT TAKES PLACE.

Jack Kilrain Knocks Out Felix Vacquelin In Three Rounds.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—Jack Kilrain and Felix Vacquelin fought at the West End theater yesterday for a purse of $2,000. Vacquelin is the young Frenchman who has taken a number of local and western pugilistic fights. Kilrain has been training at Richmond for the fight. There was a large crowd present and the police did nothing to preserve order, though it has lately been declared that there would be no more prize fighting permitted here.

William Muldoon and Doc Adler were Kilrain's seconds. Mike Cleary and James Sweeney acted in the same capacity for Vacquelin. Pat Kendrick was referee. Three rounds were worked, and three rounds were fought, at the end of which Vacquelin gave up and the fight was awarded to Kilrain.

Vaquelin was obliged to act entirely on the defensive, as he was no match for Kilrain. The only wonder is that he stood Kilrain's pounding for three rounds. He hardly got a blow in during the fight.

Wrongly Translated.

The story is an old one of a party of tired travelers who entered a house decorated by a peculiar sign and demanded quarters.

"This is not a restaurant," said the courteous gentleman who met them. "I am an artist."

"Let's have an oyster hung outside the door," asked one.

"No, gentlemen, it is an ear."

A body of sailors from an American vessel, stopping at St. Louis, were German consuls and demanded dinner.

"This is not a hotel," said the offended domestic official who met them.

"Well, if it isn't a restaurant, what's that black fowl hanging out for? Ain't it a sign?" inquired the spokesman.

"The 'sign' was the German eagle, the consular coat of arms—Youth's Connection."

That Satisfied Him.

"Last Monday morning," he began, in a solemn voice, "last Monday morning I stopped here and ordered a large list of groceries. Today is Thursday, and they have not come up yet."

"They haven't! Oh, yes, I remember now," replied the grocer.

"What's the excuse?"

"You are owing us $40 and we can fill no further order until that is paid."

"Is that it?"

"It is."

"That is it all right. I didn't know but one of your horses was sick—a wagon smashed up—forgetful clerk, or something of that sort. That makes it all right."—Detroit Free Press.

TARIFF REFORM IN INDIANA.

The Indiana Tariff Reform League held its first Convention at Indianapolis, Tuesday last. It was decided to establish an editorial bureau for the purpose of obtaining a permanent organization and electing officers.

JOHN DONELSON.

AT GETTYSBURG.

The Boston Transcript, a conservative Republican paper, favors the marking by monuments the positions held by the Confederate regiments at the battle of Gettysburg. Among other things the Transcript says: "The Confederates of today look back with common pride to the fiery valor of the Confederates and the steadfast courage of Cromwell's Ironsides, so we believe, the Americans of the next century will feel a common glow of gratified nationalism as they read the brave deeds of the Union soldiers."

There could not have been three days of such fighting unless there had been great qualities on both sides—not only physical bravery, but moral heroism. It is of no use to question this; it befits our own triumph to deny it."

This is in pleasing contrast with the recent petty utterances of a Pittsburg Grand Army Post and Gov. Bever in regard to the Maryland Confederate monument on the Gettysburg battlefield.

Albert G. Dudley, aged eighty years, son of Col. Wm. Dudley, killed in the war of 1812, died in Fayette county, last week.

Louisville Tobacco Market.

By Glover & Burdett, Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.

Sales on our market for the past week just closed amount to 3,300 hbls. with receipts 1,944 hbls. for the same period. Sales on our market since January 1st, amount to 12,184 hbls. Sales on our market of the crop of 1880 up to this date amount to 10,851 hbls.

The offerings of new burley have been large again this week, and we are able to quote some improvement on the medium to good grades of leaf and also stronger offerings on color low grades. We buy it necessary to advise quiditions on some grades from the figures of last week. One hundred of new burley sold on our market this week at $24.50 per 100, being the highest price of the season.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for Burley tobacco, crop of 1889:

Trash (Dark) or damaged tobacco $10.00 to $12.00
Common Lugs not colored, $3.50 to $4.00
Colony Trash $3.00 to $3.50
Common Leaf, $7.00 to $8.50
Medium to good, leaf, $8.50 to $12.00
Good to fine flake $12.00 to $16.00
Select or wrapery tobacco, $16.00 to $24.50

THE CLIMAX

Wednesday, - - February 5, 1900.

The St. Nicholas has a free Cab for its guests.

Three story residence for sale or rent by N. B. Deatherage. See ad.

Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Turner have just passed the gold anniversary of their marriage.

Ten thousand bushels of Irish potatoes were by Covington, Arnold & Bro. See ad.

Mr. William Ward is the new postmaster at Point Lick, and is pronounced a good one.

A remarkable discovery of near relatives is related in our Red House items found elsewhere in today's CLIMAX.

Mr. M. M. Harber is down from the Atlantic mines and says they are shipping thirteen cars of coal a day.

Covington & Mitchell are spreading it on thick and thin in their elegant new store. Fine stock suits at low prices.

Mr. C. B. Hill, now with Mr. Muncy at the Adams Express office, is from College Hill, this county, but formerly from Owensboro.

Sheep Gibson, a colored man, was hit by a dog and lost his eye. He resorted to Mr. Cliff Burgh's medicine and it stuck five times.

Mr. James C. Adams, as guardian of James and Charles Hagan, will, on February 14th, rent for the year 1899, a farm near Kirksville.

The flowers are in bloom again, the thermometer up, the weather in the 70's. The weather will be cold in May, then now.

John C. G. Miller has built a residence on his farm near his old home in this county, and has had it nicely furnished. What next?

The continued warm weather has raised a row in a certain camp. W. A. Powell says he is going to sell his goods at such price if you will come to see him. See ad.

Mr. W. N. Potts has purchased a $17,000 interest in the Standard falls. If any man knows better than any other man who owns a mill, is our former citizen Potts is the one.

Mr. Schofield, of the new clothing store of York & Schofield, is a nephew of Prof. Schofield, of Danville, who performed the deaf mute marriage in this place recently.

Ed. Hogan, for twenty-two years drummer for John P. Morton & Co., printers, Louisville, and who had many times visited Richmond, died suddenly while taking a bath in Bowling Green, Friday.

A finger of a little grand-daughter of ex-postmaster Taylor was amputated at the third joint, yesterday, by Doctors Finster and Roberts. A varicose enlargement existing from birth, was the trouble.

A report was circulated here last week that a small pox existed in the railroad camp in the suburbs of Lexington. It is at the camp it is not probable that there are more than a thousand cases of the speckled disease.

The Middleborough News announces that Colonel D. G. Slaughter is to leave charge of the new $50,000 hotel on Queensberry Heights, that place, and that it is to be named Katydad, in honor of Mrs. J. L. McKinney, that being her own name.

Fire Insurance.
If you need fire insurance, consider the announcement of that reliable firm of agents, Hurman & Hurman, in today's issue. Strong companies and low rates.

Drug Change.
Mr. A. G. Woods has purchased the interest of Mr. Hutcheson in the drug firm of Woods & Hutcheson, Glyndon Hotel drug store, and all goes smoothly on. Mr. Campbell Patterson is salesman.

Combination Sale.
B. Howard Neale and Walter Bennett are talking of having a combination sale of horses here the first of May. That is a good move—keep it going. Such a sale can be had with profit to all parties concerned.

His First.
An Ohio man was on Monday, his first visit to the State, and saw for the first time a genuine Kentucky Court day. He had not so much as heard of the institution, and was compelled to ask what it meant—so many cattle, mules, and other animals in town.

Heavy Hogs.
Mr. H. B. Barnett sold yesterday to J. F. Wagers, 41 hogs that averaged 400 lbs. That is the largest average, for so large a number of hogs that the county has produced for a long time. The price paid was $3.45 per hundred, or $1.81 a head. They were shipped Saturday from Fort Estill.

Mules and Sheep.
Mr. H. H. Colyer sold yesterday to W. O. Brock, of Clark, 45 ewes—4 cars—at $4 to $4.30 per hundred. Average 95 pounds.

Mr. Colyer will leave to-morrow for Missouri with 13 good jacks—the largest load that ever went out of this county.

Went in January.
List of marriage licenses issued during the month of January, 1899: P. Riddle and Eva Harpe; W. T. Cutsinger and Henrietta Masters; James Cain and Julia Kirkendall; J. T. Friend and Mary L. Boen; Wm. L. Leeds and Sarah M. Johnson; J. B. Dozier and Julia Brooks; Wm. G. Lucas and Etta Burnam; Daniel Long and Laura Hickman; W. L. Wilder and Amanda Elder.

The Pennsylvania Law.
Tobacco dealers in the large cities declare the law prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors has no apparent influence on the amount of cigarettes sold, and the inference is that in some way or other cigarette smokers, whether they are minors or not, get them. There seems to be no dispute about the evil results of cigarette smoking on immature boys.—Lancaster New Era.

Change of Firm.
Mr. W. A. Powell has bought the interest of Dr. C. W. Evans in the clothing firm of W. A. Powell & Co., and henceforward the firm name is theretofore existed will be minus the Co. Mr. Powell is an experienced merchant, and with the assistance of Mr. James Whitely, whose services are continued, will remain at McKee's old stand, corner of Main and First Streets.

Briggs.
The bridge for the R. N. I. & B. at Irvine makes the tenth bridge that spans the Kentucky river between the three Forks and the mouth. Three of the ten cross out of Madison—one little Clark, one into Fayette, and one into Jessamine. Will somebody name a river, and especially one no longer than the Kentucky, that has as many bridges? Yet they say Kentucky is a slow State.

Up and at it Again.
The large interior portion of the Bonanza Roller Mills that did the McGinty act so thoroughly, two weeks ago Monday, entailing a heavy loss, has been restored by hard work day and night, and grinding will now proceed in its usual vigorous and steady way. This is a marvellously rapid work. The center column, the base of which gave way, causing the accident, has been made everlastingly strong, so that there can be no repetition of the catastrophe.

Court Day.
A larger number of cattle and mules on the market Monday, than for the past several months. Auctioneers Bush and Deatherage were absent. Capt. Ballard, who rarely goes on the street to auction, was induced to make a few sales. He reports ten or twelve mules at $60 to $185; one pair of mules $325. He reports but few cattle sold, with prices a shade below last week.

A Large Item.
The CLIMAX gives its readers only one horse item this week, but it is a good one, as well as a big one. It occupies two columns on the fourth page, and is from that reliable and interesting journal, the Lexington Stock Farm. Recently we quoted from the same paper a lengthy article entitled "In-And-In" "Breeding," which gave great satisfaction among our readers interested in horses. The article published to-day is entitled "A Tale of the Great Whites Family in all its Generations." It is an article that required much care and research.

Sale of a Hotel and Opera House.
The Warner Grand Opera House and Hotel at Kansas City, Missouri, the finest structure of the kind in the Missouri valley, built at a cost of $250,000 and opened September 10, 1897, by Booth & Barrett, has been sold at public auction by the sheriff and was purchased for $350,000 cash by George W. Henry, a Chicago millionaire lumber dealer. George W. Henry, the Missouri poet, who had made a fortune out of real estate, built the structure regardless of expense. He borrowed money liberally. Real estate prices went down and the notes were met by Warner.—Exchange.

PERSONAL.

Mr. A. D. Ruff has returned from a delightful visit to his old home.

Mrs. Sallie Willis, of Jessamine county, visited Mrs. W. Stuart Jones, this place, last week.

Mr. John Fitzpatrick, attorney at law, Pineville, is visiting his old home here, and says his town has taken on a new bloom.

Stephen W. Cosby and Squire Davis left yesterday for Illinois, their future home. May they prosper like the Vanderbilts.

Mr. Joe Rice and bride, Mrs. Garnett, left for Cave City, their home, on Friday, after a ten days visit to relatives there at their old home.

An elegant Cincinnati ball is described by the Enquirer, and among the numerous participants, Miss Mattie McDowell of Richmond, is mentioned.

Mr. R. Tate Irvine, attorney at law and real estate agent at Middleborough, is here for a day or two, and says that his new home is the liveliest place he has seen in a century.

David R. Francis is Governor of Missouri. He is a tall, well built, handsome Westerner of the vigorous type. He has a good, genial face, decorated with a brown mustache, and his manners and speech are engaging.

RELIGIOUS.

Rev. H. T. Daniel, of Richmond, has left a fine impression on the Baptist brethren here, and it is likely he will be called to the pastorate. He has recently held some very successful meetings.—Paris Kentuckian-Citizen.

One of the most important gatherings to be held in this State for some months to come will be the Ninth Annual Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Kentucky, at Paris, February 13th and 14th.

Bishop Ames, of the Catholic diocese of Covington, has secured ground on Madison Avenue, the general residence part of the city of Covington, as the site for a new Cathedral, which is to be built this year, at a cost of $100,000. The location is the finest in the city.

The barn on the old Pierce farm, Gloucester, Mass., is burned. The building destroyed is a historical one. It was built about the year 1750, as the first Universalist Church in America, its pastor being Rev. John Merry. The centennial celebration of Universalism in America was held in 1870, and thousands of Universalists who attended that gathering visited this old barn as the Mecca of liberal Christianity.

Dr. Van Dyke astonished the New York Presbytery a few days ago, by saying: "I know not what others may do, but, as for me, I intend to keep on disobeying, ignoring and denying the doctrine of reprobation. I will teach that there is no salvation in Christ, but that there is salvation open to all mankind, and that no man is punished but for his own sin. Is that Calvinism? Before God, I don't know or care! It is Christianity!"

The largest work of Cardinal Gibbons, "Our Christian Heritage," is enjoying an unusually large sale in this country, over 100,000 copies having been sold in three months. The work is meeting with decided favor in Great Britain, where a special edition is finding many purchasers. The book will be translated into the French and German languages, a contract for the latter privilege having been signed by the Cardinal on Saturday, Baltimore Star.

George S. Williams has sold the lambs of 70 ewes to James Smith, at 5 cents, for June and July delivery.

Mr. Raymond Shearer, Jr., of Hunts, Clark county, was over on a visit to his father, Mr. Raymond Shearer, Sr., the other day.

La Grippe is as common in this country as colds, and a majority of the citizens of this neighborhood have lost more or less.

G. S. Williams bought seventy 150 lb. hogs of Leroy Hilde and has them for sale. He sold to Ed. Tribble two 1,100 lb. steers at $5.50 per 100 lbs.

The community lost a valuable family—that of Mr. Sidney Nolan and wife, by removal, they having gone to reside at the Junction Hill place, near Richmond.

Since Middleborough is on such a boom, everybody here is hoping and expecting to hear of our former resident, Mr. Everett Hugely, making a ten strike.

Mr. Robert Pryor, of Estill county, has been visiting his father-in-law, G. S. Williams. Miss Mattie Williams is visiting her sisters, Mrs. Cattie Pryor, of Estill, and Mrs. Laura Barker, of Beaverville.

Miss Mollie Shearer, the beautiful young daughter of Mr. Abner Shearer, will be married Thursday to Rev. D. Flury Stafford, a young minister in the Christian Church. Brookstown perhaps never produced a handsomer couple than this.

Clair Shearer, Jr., colored, a native of this locality, is here from Indianapolis, and announces the death of his father, Clair Shearer, Sr., aged eighty-eight years. Clair was a slave of Matthew Shearer, long since deceased, and was one of the most industrious colored men in the country. He raised sixteen children. He has now loaned out to various persons all over the country from Richmond to the Tennessee purchase, 33 yearling mules at $37.50.

Five pure bred Poland China hogs, ready for service. Also some work mares and work mules for sale, by G. W. White & Son.

Beatyville is doing her best to get up a big bonanza. Everybody has got the gripe, cannot hear anything now but how's your gripe? Work on the Government dam has suspended for awhile, but will continue early in the spring.

James H. Edwards, of Fairview, Estill county, has accepted a position on the tenth residence of the R. N. I. & B. Ry., with Wm. Rock, resident engineer.

The new hotel will probably be completed by the beginning of the next year or before. It is already much needed, and is sure to do a fine business, if properly managed.

Capt. C. A. Gordon, Sr., was in Beatyville on the 23rd ult. He had charge of the locating corps now locating the extension of the R. N. I. & B. R. R., from Beatyville to Pineville, the distance between the two points being 110 miles.

Million.
Dr. J. F. Hood is sick again, but not so seriously as before.

Mr. H. W. Haden has been taking the Cincinnati Enquirer for twenty-four years. Miss Sallie Breeding, of Washington county, is visiting Miss Olive Perkins, and will remain during the winter.

Tates Creek, from end to end, is ready and waiting to go on a boom as soon as the spring and the R. N. I. & B. open, which will not be in the fall.

Mr. P. Million has a pocketbook that he paid one dollar for 38 years ago. He carried it daily for 20 years, and since has whenever he leaves home. It is a good one yet. The dollar was all he had and he gave it for the pocket book to put in it.

A wonderful mouse nest has been discovered by a family in this vicinity. In looking through an old bureau, an odd looking bunch of something was found, and when pulled to pieces proved to be the nest of a mouse made up of a lot of old papers belonging to the late Ira G. Millon. Many of them were cut into fragments, while others were intact. Among them was a $50 Confederate bill, tax receipts—one for $25, signed by Caldwell Campbell, deputy sheriff for I. C. Miller; one for 1836, signed by G. W. M. Barbour, D. S. for D. Benton or Burton, or Burton, the writing being indistinct; one for 1827, signed by R. Caldwell, sheriff.

RED HOUSE.
Miss Mattie Hugely and Mr. Cateb Shearer, accompanied by Miss Flora McDowell, have returned from a visit to relatives in Missouri.

Mr. James Dozier, of this vicinity, and Miss Jane Brooks, daughter of Mr. John O. Brooks, near Union City, were married on the 22nd ult. Attendants—Mr. M. C. Taylor, Jr., and Miss Celia Taylor. After the ceremony, the party retired to the home of the groom, "Woodland Heights," and a nice supper, supplemented by dancing, aided in wearing the night away. Mr. Dozier is a prosperous business man of this place.

A most remarkable occurrence was the appearance here of Mr. D. S. Williams, of Colorado, last week. Mr. Bowden, the photographer for the new gallery, connected with the New York music store in Richmond, had followed him to the West and formed the acquaintance of Mr. Williams. Two weeks ago, the latter had business in Cincinnati, and while there decided to run up to Richmond to see his friend Bowden. While at the Glyndon, he mentioned that he was born in Kentucky, but was taken West when young, that he did not know whether he was born in Madison or some adjoining county. He knew that his mother's maiden name was Butler, and somebody suggested that probably Mr. James Butler, near this place, was his relative. So he came on, and to his gratification discovered that he was at the home of his own uncle. And more, he soon learned that another uncle, his father's brother, lived near here—Squire William Williams. Mr. Williams was a son of Tates Williams, who emigrated from the old country about sixty-six years ago. He married Mary, daughter of two, and returned to his Western home.

Miss Nannie Williams is very sick with La Grippe.

Teach trees in bloom again. This settles the peach crop for this year.

Mr. Sam Baldwin is spending the most of his time at his farm on Tates Creek.

Rufus McDowell's beef has got so he can kick up his heels. We will have beef yet.

There is no whisky in this neighborhood, and we do not have agreed not to take any gripe.

Mr. Thomas Goodrich, who now lives on the Tipton farm, will move to Fayette the 1st of March.

Mr. Jacob Shearer and wife, Mrs. Hugely, left for Brookstown, March 1st, at 12 o'clock, on Sunday, but was unable to decide whether he could see his shadow or not. The weather for 40 days will therefore be a mixture of winter and summer.

A new candidate for fame and fortune, called Kentucky House and School, and published at Mt. Vernon, by Mr. W. E. Shaw, locates Mammoth Cave in Christian county. Oh, Shaw, when was it moved over out of Edmondson?

A Richmond fellow asked about a man who went into a grocery and asked the clerk if he had "any of this new kind of tea?" and when the clerk wanted to know what kind of tea he meant, the man said McGinty. He thought the joke so good that he would go at once and ask it off on one of our town grocers. So he hurried along, and dashing in he asked, "have you got any of this new kind of sugar?" and when the clerk asked "what kind of sugar do you mean?" and the fellow said McGinty.

CONCERNING FARMERS.

In Jessamine county, a pair of aged mules sold for $280.

The Democrat reports a number of sales of tobacco all round, in Clark, at $10 to 15 cents.

Sumner county, Delaware fruit growers are reported as very despondent over this year's crop. Many peach and apricot trees were in full bloom when struck by the cold wave.

W. C. Cash sold to J. W. Herndon, of Madison, an aged jack, a jack collie, a dog, 2 lbs. 3-year-olds and 3 yearling colts for $1,750. He also sold a mixed lot of 50 cattle to Tom Wood, at $3. This makes nearly $5,000 worth of stock sold by Mr. Cash in the last two weeks.—Standard Journal.

Peel & Rutherford made the following disposals of their Clydevale stock received last week from Nebraska: 20 yearling mares to Dr. J. W. Hall, for $200; one 4-year-old mare to Anderson Cobb for $130; one 3-year-old mare to George Peel for $125; one 5-year-old horse to Dick Huthers for $130.—Nicholasville Journal.

The leading Tennessee papers are united in calling for a State convention of farmers in consideration the question of better roads and how to secure them. The Memphis Daily Commercial says "there is no room to doubt the success of the convention, and as little to doubt that it will be productive of a great deal of good." The convention will be held in Nashville.
